

THE FIRST 48 HOURS

Win the two days that decide if your client stays.

Your client decides in the first 24 to 48 hours whether they trust you. Most beginners deliver nothing in that window because they are "still setting up."
This is your plan so that never happens.

The rule: in the first two days, the client must feel two things. One, that paying you was smart. Two, that something is already moving. This checklist works no matter what you sell. The structure stays the same. You fill in the blanks with your service.

The Checklist

THE MOMENT PAYMENT LANDS (HOUR 0)

- ☐ Send the welcome message within 5 minutes (template 1 below). Speed is the signal.
- ☐ Book the onboarding call inside the next 24 hours. Send the calendar link in the same message.
- ☐ Add them to wherever you will work together (folder, group, CRM, whatever you use).

THE ONBOARDING CALL (WITHIN 24 HOURS)

- ☐ Set expectations: what happens, by when, and how you two will talk.
- ☐ Do the admin together on a screen share. Do not send them a list of setup tasks to do alone. Share your screen and do it with them, live. This removes all their effort.
- ☐ Define the first win: agree out loud on what the first visible result will be and when it lands.
- ☐ Give them one small thing to do. One. Small. So they feel involved, not overwhelmed.

BEFORE THE 48 HOUR MARK

- ☐ Ship one visible thing. Anything they can see with their own eyes: a draft, a plan, a setup screenshot, a first version. It does not have to be finished. It has to be visible. (Send it with template 3.)

AT THE 48 HOUR MARK

- ☐ Send the confidence check (template 4). It surfaces any doubt while it is still small and easy to fix.

That is the whole system. Four moments. Four messages. The client who feels motion in 48 hours is the client who stays for months.

The 4 Messages (fill in the blanks and send)

TEMPLATE 1 · THE WELCOME (SEND WITHIN 5 MINUTES OF PAYMENT)

Hey [first name], welcome aboard. Genuinely pumped to work with you.

Here is exactly what happens next: we jump on a quick onboarding call so I can get everything set up WITH you (nothing for you to figure out alone), and we lock in your first win. Grab whatever time works here: [calendar link]

Talk very soon.

TEMPLATE 2 · THE ONBOARDING CALL AGENDA (SEND/SCREEN-SHARE AT THE START OF THE CALL)

Quick map for today, will take about [15 to 30] minutes:

1. What the next [timeframe] looks like and how we'll talk.
2. I get you set up, live, on this call. You don't lift a finger.
3. We agree on your first win and when it lands.
4. I give you one small thing to handle. That's it.

TEMPLATE 3 · SHIPPING THE FIRST VISIBLE THING (BEFORE HOUR 48)

Hey [first name], wanted you to see something already moving.

Here is [the draft / plan / setup / first version]: [link or attachment]

This is a first pass, not the finished thing, but I wanted you to see momentum on day one. [One line on what happens next.]

TEMPLATE 4 · THE CONFIDENCE CHECK (AT THE 48 HOUR MARK)

Hey [first name], quick one. On a scale of 1 to 10, how confident are you feeling about this so far?

Whatever the number, I want to hear it. If it's not a 10, tell me what would make it one and I'll handle it.

Why the 1 to 10 question works: it gives them permission to raise a small doubt before it becomes a big one. A client who says "7" on day two is a client you can save. A client who quietly feels "7" and says nothing is a client who churns in month two.
