

THE SCRIPT PACK

Copy. Paste. Fill in the blanks. Send.

Everything you need to get your first conversations started
, warm outreach, cold calls, cold email, cold DMs.

HOW TO USE THIS

- Every [BLUE BLANK] is something you fill in with your own words.
- Every line in a box is word-for-word. You can send it exactly as written.
- Start with warm outreach. It's free, it's fastest, and it has the highest reply rate. Do it first, every day, before anything else.
- Pick your daily number and hit it. Volume is the whole game. 10x whatever you think is "a lot."

THE RULE: You're not asking anyone to buy. You're asking who they know. That one shift removes all the pressure, for them and for you.

1 • Warm Outreach

People who already know you. Friends, family, followers, past customers, anyone in your phone. Zero boundaries. This is the single highest-reply-rate move you own. Use voice messages whenever you can. They always beat text.

STEP 1 • SPARK A REAL CONVERSATION (REACT TO SOMETHING IN THEIR LIFE)

Saw you just had a baby! Congrats! How's the baby doing? How are you?

More openers you can steal:

Yo, saw you opened the second location. Congrats man. How's that going so far?

Saw the post about hitting [milestone]. Hell of a year for you. How are things over there?

Saw the family vacation pics, looked unreal. How are you? How's the business?

Long time. Saw you launched the new [service/product]. How's it landing so far?

STEP 2 • ACKNOWLEDGE → COMPLIMENT → ASK (STEER TOWARD YOUR OFFER)

[Acknowledge] "Two kids. And you're an accountant..." [Compliment] "...Wow! Supermom! So hardworking! Managing a full-time career and two kids..." [Ask toward offer] "...Do you have anyone who helps you keep receipts organized, you know... the admin stuff?"

Real examples depending on what they reply:

IF THEY SAY: "BUSINESS IS GOOD, JUST BUSY AS HELL"

Two locations and still hands-on every day... that's a real operator, not many can pull that off. Quick one, how are you handling marketing right now? Doing much on IG or has that taken a back seat?

IF THEY SAY: "HONESTLY SLOW LATELY, TRYING TO GET MORE CLIENTS"

So the work's dialed in but the lead flow isn't, that's actually a good problem, because the hard part is already done. How are you getting new clients right now? Doing anything on Instagram?

IF THEY SAY: "ALL GOOD BRO, YOU?"

All good, building a thing that helps business owners blow up their Instagram. Speaking of, how's IG going for you? Doing anything with it for the business or kinda ignoring it?

STEP 3 • AFTER 3-4 MESSAGES → MAKE THE OFFER (AS A "WHO DO YOU KNOW")

...By the way, do you know anybody who's [describe their struggle] looking to [dream outcome] every month? I'm onboarding 5 one-to-one clients, because that's all me and [you / your partner] can handle. I just want some testimonials for my service. I help them [dream outcome] without [effort and sacrifice], or they get their money back, no questions asked. It works. I just had [proof, e.g. "12 people just like you"] sign up, even though they [same struggle your contact has]. Does anyone you like come to mind? Maybe a colleague, a friend, someone you met travelling?

...and if they say no... "Haha, well... does anyone you hate come to mind? (ha)", breaks the awkwardness every time.

STEP 4 • VOLUME & FOLLOW-UP (THIS IS WHERE THE MONEY ACTUALLY IS)

YOUR DAILY NUMBERS

- 25-50 warm messages per day. Every day. Before anything else.
- Follow up minimum 3 times per lead over the next 7 days, roughly once every other day.
- Keep the list warm. 1-2 months later: "Are you still looking to grow your Instagram?"

2 · Cold Calling

Calling a stranger's business to book a meeting. It's free and it converts higher than any other cold channel, because it's a real human voice. This is a proven script. The bracketed parts flex to your offer; the structure does not. Learn the flow, don't read it robotically.

STEP 1 · GET TO THE OWNER

Hi, is this [company name]? ... Hi, it's just me, [your name], I was wondering if you might be able to help me with something?

If they say "yeah sure":

I'm not quite sure who I should speak to, I'm trying to reach the person responsible at [their company], because I submitted an enquiry on your website yesterday about [specific service they offer] and haven't heard back. Who should I speak to about that?

If the owner isn't there:

Would you be able to send me their number? I'll just leave a voice message, and they can call me back if it's something they want help with.

STEP 2 · PITCH YOUR OFFER

[Pitch your offer here.]

This is the part that's yours. Keep it short and make it about the result they get, not the features. A simple shape that works:

EXAMPLE SHAPE OF A PITCH

"I promise you [dream outcome] in [short time frame], without [the thing they hate doing], or [your risk reversal / guarantee]."

Then check if it landed before you move on: "Would that help you right now?" They say "yeah, of course" →

STEP 3 · BOOK THE DEMO

Perfect. What I'll do is set aside 15 minutes for a quick video call to show you a demo and map out your full lead-capture process, so we can spot where you could be booking more meetings right now, without spending a cent more on marketing.

I've got [time 1, e.g. today at 1 PM] or [time 2, e.g. tomorrow at 11 AM], what works best?

STEP 4 · HANDLE THE 3 OBJECTIONS

"WE DON'T HAVE TIME RIGHT NOW"

Completely understand, a lot of [clinics / businesses] say the same. That's exactly why they use the [system name]: to save time and still keep the calendar full. Should we book 30 minutes tomorrow instead?

"WE ALREADY HAVE SOMEONE WE WORK WITH"

Totally fine, most of the [businesses] we speak with have worked with others before. We just thought it'd be worth 30 minutes to see if the [system name] can fill your calendar even more predictably.

"SEND ME SOME INFO BY EMAIL"

Of course, but honestly, info by email usually just sits there unread. That's why a quick 30-minute call is better: you get the full picture in one go. Should I book you for [Tuesday 1 PM] or [Thursday 11 AM]?

3 • Cold Email

Short, human, and curiosity-driven. No fake AI compliments. The whole job of a cold email is to earn one reply, not to close. Keep it to a few lines.

Hey [Firstname],

I'm not gonna send you some random AI-generated compliment but...

Mind if I tell you more about how we built a system for [past client] that saved them [result, e.g. 13 hours a week] AND got them [result, e.g. 4 additional clients]?

Why it works: it's honest (calls out the AI-compliment game everyone else plays), it's specific (real numbers), and it asks permission instead of pitching. Low pressure = higher reply.

4 • Cold DM

Adapted from your warm-outreach framework for cold audiences, review & tweak to taste. Same spine as warm outreach, colder open. The trick: lead with genuine specificity about THEM, never a pitch.

STEP 1 • OPEN WITH SOMETHING REAL ABOUT THEM (NOT A PITCH)

Yo [name], [specific, genuine observation about their content/business/post]. [one honest sentence why it stood out].

No "Hope you're doing well." No pitch in message one. The only goal of the first DM is a reply.

STEP 2 • ONCE THEY REPLY → ACKNOWLEDGE → COMPLIMENT → ASK

[Acknowledge what they said] ... [genuine compliment tied to it] ... [one question that steers toward their problem]?

STEP 3 • AFTER A FEW EXCHANGES → THE "WHO DO YOU KNOW" OFFER

By the way, do you know anyone who's [struggle] trying to [dream outcome]? I'm taking on a few people free to get testimonials. I help them [outcome] without [effort/sacrifice], guaranteed. Anyone come to mind?

COLD DM RULES

- First message: about THEM, never about you.
- Never pitch in message one. Earn the reply first.
- Voice notes win here too, once the conversation is warm.
- Volume: pick your daily number and hit it every single day.
